

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

In order to preserve any shred of democratic potential that we have left in the current media landscape, i advocate that the FCC does not loosen its regulations on ownership. On the contrary, go the other way and create new ownership regulations that help to ensure that many different voices have an equal opportunity to be broadcast and heard.
